

From: Southern Environmental Law Center [selc@selcva.org]
Sent: 11/21/2017 9:20:00 AM
To: Tarr, Jeremy M [/o=ExchangeLabs/ou=Exchange Administrative Group (FYDIBOHF23SPDLT)/cn=Recipients/cn=98859532088e4437968231eb6fef6b70-jmtarr1]
Subject: [External] Citizens challenge Georgia Power's request to charge customers for Vogtle overruns

CAUTION: External email. Do not click links or open attachments unless verified. Send all suspicious email as an attachment to report.spam@nc.gov.

Protecting the South's environment through the POWER OF THE LAW

Citizens challenge Georgia Power's request to charge customers for Vogtle overruns

As Georgia Power seeks regulatory approval to continue work on two nuclear units that are already billions over budget, SELC is urging regulators to deny the request and prevent the utility from forcing its customers to bear the financial burden of mounting cost overruns.

READ THE STORY

Virginia announces South's first carbon cap-and-trade program

With federal efforts in limbo, Virginia officials tackle climate change head-on, releasing a draft plan for cutting greenhouse gas emissions from the power sector.

Read More

Memphis Aquifer belongs to the public, not TVA

On behalf of a group of concerned citizens, SELC is challenging the Tennessee Valley Authority's decision to use wells at its Allen Gas Plant that threaten to pollute the Memphis Sand Aquifer, the primary source of drinking water for the City of Memphis.

Read More

Groups take legal action against FERC on Atlantic Coast Pipeline

45 years of protection under the Clean Water Act

Protecting Atlantic waters from seismic blasting's "storm of noise"

Additions proposed for two Virginia Wilderness Areas

SELC Chapel Hill attorney Kym Hunter named to board of N.C. Open Government Coalition

Following a series of legal victories improving public access to government records, including a decisive win in a case against the McCrory administration, SELC's Kym Hunter was selected to serve on the board of the North Carolina Open Government Coalition, a non-partisan organization which unites groups devoted to enhancing government transparency and accountability.

What's happening in your state?

SELC works on nearly 200 cases and projects across our six-state region of Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, and Tennessee.

SELC is SOCIAL

Images top to bottom: © Duke Energy, © Beth Young, © N/A, © Audubon

Update your preferences | Unsubscribe

© Southern Environmental Law Center
201 West Main Street, Suite 14
Charlottesville, VA 22902 | 434-977-4090

nonprofit software